WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN.
June 7.—Two games for one admission were the bargain offered by the management of the Brooklyn club to the rooters this afternoon, but the prospect of the games being played looked very slim indeed. The Brooklyn and Chicago teams were to oppose each other.

For an hour before the first game was slated to begin a collection of rain-laden clouds hovered over the grounds threatening to empty their contents at any moment. They held off, however, until after the gates were opened. Then the rain began to fall heavily. It was not a few minutes and as it looked as if the storm might disappear the bell rang and the Chicago took the field for their usual fifteen minutes practice.

Despite the threatening conditions the rooters took chance and came in large numbers. It is not often that the fans in this vicinity are given a double-header for one admission.

The defeat which Seale's men administered to Hanlon's crowd yesterday, breaking their great winning streak, was a sad blow to both Seale and his men, and they vowed to get even with the Colts today by taking both games.

As the time for the first game approached the rooters continued to pour into the grounds, and by 1:30 o'clock every seat in the 25-cent bleachers was occupied, while hundreds more were compelled to stand up for lack of seats.

Hanlon, to make good the first game, sent in Lefty Newton to pitch against the visitors. Seale depended on Pop Williams to beat the champions with his benders. When the game began there were over five thousand persons present, and they were still coming in droves.

The Brooklyn won the first game by the score of 2 to 1. It was a red-hot pitchers' battle, the Trolley Dodgers scoring all their runs in the first inning. After that close play and goose eggs was the order.

When the second game began there were close to 3,000 persons present. The only changes in the teams were the batteries, Kitson and Farrell supplying the points for Brooklyn, while Taylor and Chance did likewise for the Chicago.

ELI AND THE TIGER MEET IN BATTLE.

Great Commencement Crowd at Princeton for the Second Game of the Yale Series—Struggle a Bitter One.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PRINCETON, N. J., June 7.—Yale and Princeton met in the second game of the series this afternoon. Yale won the first game—10 to 6. If the Tigers ever did play ball they tried their hardest to play this afternoon. Besides the stimulation given by one defeat the Tigers had the aid given by thousands of Alumni and commencement friends.

Betting was in general 2 to 1 on Princeton, but not a great deal of money was put up. The New Haven delegation were aware of the difficulty of winning a game of Princeton during commencement week, and they also felt that comparison of scores between Yale and Illinois of 4 to 7 and 1 to 3 gave indications of superiority to the Princeton team.

Then, too, Princeton has been working hard this week to eliminate the unsteadiness of Decoration Day, when they met defeat from Yale.

Sixteen classes had reunions and contributed to the fund. Every class brought along a brass band, a life and drum corps, and in one case a Scottish Highlander bagpipe corps. The costume for each class is peculiar to itself and presents a very spectacular appearance.
